HITLER EXTOLS PEACE EFFORTS OF NAZI GROUP

PEACE EFFORTS OF NAZI GROUP

Hopes Differences With France Can Be Adjusted

By Louis P. Lochner
Associated Press Foreign Staff
Berlin, Jan. 30.—(P)—Adolph Hitler reformed "abused" any assertion that Germany plans to violate Austria and viciously extolled today German efforts during the first year of Nazi rule to help the cause of world peace.
The allegation of the Austrian movement was postponed until late afternoon as legislative leaders thirmed up support for the bill, on which a "recess" was suspended Thursday when it received only 96 of the necessary 162 votes, with 38 cast in opposition.

Administration leaders had completed the necessary emergency session during final negotiations waiting for the full membership assemble.

A group of appropriation bills, privations for the state liquor con-commission, was promptly passed the house and sent to the senate, which is expected to complete action on them at a midnight session tomorrow.

The house scheduled a perfect session tomorrow, awaiting word from the governor's office about plans to adjourn the third special session.

There was a prospect that the liquor session would not be adjourned until some time in the next week.
Administration with the next session. Current leaders have pro-ports during the first year of Nazi rule, to help the cause of world peace. The Reich government has no intention of taking any action until the Reich is being undisturbed, or even threatened, by any other power. He rejected most sharply the Chancellor's insistence, taking cognizance of the Austrian Chancellor's warning that the Anschluss was being planned for on or about Jan. 30.

With pride Hitler referred to a recently-signed German-Polish non-aggression pact and the Reich's cordial relations with Italy.

Expresses Hope

On the debit side he acknowledged the difficulties with Russia, Austria and France, but expressed the hope that differences with those countries could be satisfactorily adjusted.

and France, but expressed the hope that differences with those countries could be satisfactorily adjusted. He said that the French had, however, told the widely cheering members of the Reichstag, gathered to hear an account of his 12-month tour, that they would not accept the terms of the agreement. The agreement agreed upon by the inter-Allied conference committee, in which the United States took part, was that Germany from getting equality eventually.

Robert Woodward, Chicago Record-Herald Staff Writer

No one will live the power, however, he told the wildly cheering members of the Reichstag gathered in the Reich Chancellery, to the new stewardship as Chancellor, to prevent Germany from getting equality eventually.

He welcomed the friendly offers of Great Britain to mediate in the Franco-German deadlock.

Much of his fervent address was devoted to a review of the conditions leading to the Nazis' attainment of power, to a scathing denunciation of the "international Jewry" and to exuberant praise for domestic achievements in the first year.

A feature of the speech was his frank announcement that Monarchism was beyond the pale of discussion.

Then, with a roar of enthusiasm, the Brown-shirted assembly dispatched a law for "the reconstruction of ed a law for "the reconstruction of the Reich," which was hailed as guaranteeing "the glory and greatness of Germany."

The measure will abolish the national assembly of German states, will make the federal government responsible to the Reichstag, subordinate state governors to the federal minister of the interior.

The Reich," which was hailed as Gluck's "cutting" the glory and greatness of Austria from the German people. The measure will abolish the national assembly of German states, will make the federal government superior to the states, and subordinate state governors to the federal minister of the interior.

To the German government's great regret," he said, "its relations with the present Austrian government are not satisfactory."

"The fault is not ours. The assertion that Germany plans to violate Austria is absurd and incapable of being proved," he said at a conference in Horan.

Elmer J. Schmackenberg of Chicago, leader of the Republican minority, did not attempt further opposition to the measure. His chief lieutenant, Louis M. Green of Rockford, was absent. Under the control plan, all persons interested in the liquor business will be placed under state license, while tailors also will be licensed by local officials under a division authority. The state is to have general supervision, and will hear appeals in cases arising from the issuance or revocation of licenses.

Opening Great Lakes

The House of Representatives at Washington has appropriated $275-500 for the reopening and maintenance of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station near Chicago. That center is welcome news to the midwest, where the closing of this naval post has been greatly regretted. During the world war the station played a vital part in the training of naval men and it has been a place where prospective sailors were given their preliminary education for a year or so.

The station was the one place to which the great central portion of the country, far from the sea coast, kept in touch with the navy. It was there that middle westerners could see an actual demonstration of the work done by Uncle Sam's sailor boys. Now the station will be reopened, the appropriation goes to Congress and the interest of people in the Mississippi valley in our navy will be increased.

When young men enter the naval training station at Great Lakes, they are "top boys only." But the station is open to all, and all activities are in accordance with navy regulations. Life is much the same there as on a battleship, and craft on Lake Michigan provide experience afloat. It is hoped the station can be reopened soon.

We Might Get Paid If—

It reports that the general staff of France, which is the nucleus of a military party, would like to have control of that country for awhile.
At first thought that situation would be ominous, but when we learn that the staff members have some definite ideas about settling the war debt to the United States, our curiosity runs ahead of our apprehension.

It seems these military men take the common sense view that American good will is rather valuable.
They would like to make us an offer of some sort. If they could not pay in money, they would pay in goods, or even colonies. That might be a good way to get hold of Devil's Island, so we could send Dillinger, Cagney and other desperadoes to a piece of real punishment.

But the French military may want to get the debt paid so they can borrow some more money for another war. They are rather uneasy over Germany's belated activities, but believe if they could start a fight now, France could get the best of it.
Five years hence may be too late.
However, if France could wipe the slate clean with Uncle Sam, he would be rather cautious about having it again decorated with French I.

Dangerous Precedent

The Philadelphia judge who imposed fines on jurors who acquitted a defendant in a racketeering case, undoubtedly touched a popular chord.
The public has grown weary of seeing criminals win acquittals; this judge, asserting bluntly that the verdict was a miscarriage of justice, deprived the jurors of their fees—amounting to $25 apiece—and dismissed them from further service.

Salutary as this action may seem,
however, it sets a bad precedent.

The jury system may be clumsy and woefully inefficient, sometimes, but it still represents a bulwark of popular liberties. You don't have to think long to see that it would be weakened very seriously if jurors generally knew that the court might fine them if they failed to return verdicts of guilty.

Whatever it does the jury is supposed to function on its own, and not to be a rubber stamp for the judge.

Undeified Highway

There would be any billboards on ramshackle hot-dog stands along the 21-mile highway which the Tennessee Valley Authority is building in the vicinity of Norris Dam.

This highway will have a 250-foot right of way, and all buildings erected along its borders will have to conform to architectural standards set by the Valley Authority.

Since the highway will cross country of great scenic beauty, especial pains will be taken to prevent the erection of any structures which might cut off the motorists' view.

This news is apt to make many a motorist wish that some similar regulation could be laid down for highways elsewhere. No one can take a happy trip nowadays without being obliged to look at a great number of roadside eyecores.

A 21-mile stretch of road completely lacking in such phenomena ought to be a rare treat for the eyes.

Threaten C. W. A. Success

There is something rather ominous about all these reports of graft and double-dealing in operations of the CWA.

They have been widespread enough to cause Department of Justice agents to get busy, and the story they tell isn't a pretty one. Public officials in some localities already have put themselves on the CWA payroll, and others they have committed to a whereby CWA men had to fork over part of their pay; in others they have passed out jobs precisely as a corrupt political machine hands out plums.

Part of this is due to political conditions, and part of it may be due to the federal administration's failure to proceed sharply enough against the graft system. There still are too many men who see in government jobs only a new opportunity to reward deserving party workers.

But, whatever the cause of it, the net effect is to raise grave doubts about the working-out of the vast program now being put into effect at Washington.

We don't know yet how far some of these programs are going to go or how long they are going to last.
Many people are convinced that some, at least, of these government projects are profoundly unwise and ought to be abandoned.

But however opinion may run in this respect, one thing is obvious.
Since we are more or less committed to a trial of a vast extension of activity by the central government, that trial ought to be as business-like and straightforward as is humanly possible.

If a hole is wanted to fall because of its own inherent contradictions, and not because of political ineptitude.

What we are getting now is a disconcerting fact that our political machinery is so rotten, even to the point of the law. If only graft, favoritism, self-seeking and plain, everyday inefficiency cannot be kept out of the operation of these projects, they have small chance of succeeding.

No claim is any stronger than this weak link. It is beginning to look as if the ordinary variety of politics in the weak link in the chain upon which the administration's experiments are pulling. If that link gives way, the experiments are very apt to flop.

Unless we can root political selfishness, greed and chicanery out of our activities as the CWA, we will lose our chance to test those activities upon their merits.

Prison Luxuries

(Quincy Herald-Whisper) Conditions found in the prison on Welfare Island, N. Y., would have been disastrous to the health of any chain of prisoners, and the prison entirely too well treated.

Welfare Island lies between New York City proper and Brooklyn.
Raiders found prisoners enjoying all the luxuries of home life. There were radios, guns and ammunition and plenty of cigarettes and liquor kept there with the knowledge of the keepers that the men had such things. A man sent to Welfare Island always had friends who looked out for him.

The men who followed discussed the fact that might have been known to the police without any investigation. A racketeer inmate had gone to the warden for certain favors and when they were refused appealed to Tammany leaders who favored the man, and then further liberties and privileges were demanded and forced upon the unwilling warden by the politicians.
Until, in time, the racketeers were running the place.

It was also disclosed that the prison was under bank rule and that a number of prisoners conducted their affairs without very much interference from the warden or guards. These men practically ran the place. They dealt in narcotics and handled the conviction in prison much as they would have done it on the outside.

There was only one fly in the ointment—a deputy warden who was hard to handle but he was put in a certain and that was the end of the reform movement. A New York organization formed to secure prison reform seemed to be aware of conditions before the raid was made.

What will come of the matter remains to be seen but it seems certain that the new city government in New York will have some remedies to offer and that Tammany influence in the prison will be replaced by the proper sort of discipline. Men in prison, who enjoy contacts not shared by men of the business and upright brethren who are out of work and in need, is no indictment of our economic system. Patner it is critical of a political system and machine that got badly out of hand.

says:

To the Editor of The

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Senate laid off Monday on account of Huey Long going to speak Tuesday, they give me a day off to get rested up.
Huey give me a dose of my own medicine. I generally talk everybody to death, but he got ahold of me and reversed his speech on me. He was trying it out on the dog. I can remember it myself in case anything happens to him. Since the big money stabilization bill passed Saturday everybody here is in fine cheer, and great optimism, senators all practicing dancing for the big ball. Our president is going to have a wonderful birthday, but many a lady's feet is going to suffer for their loyalty.

Yours, Will Rogers.

Injuries Fatal to Wendell Young, Scott County boy

Wendell Young, 18 year old student in the Winchester Community High school, and a resident of Glasgow, died at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday morning at Our Saviour's hospital from injuries sustained Monday when he was struck by an automobile in front of the school building. The youth is a former Journal and Courier carrier at Glasgow, where he lived with his father, Joseph Young, who is a road commissioner in Scott county.

The boy's death as a result of the injuries was unexpected, as he did not appear to be hurt when he was taken to the hospital. He was about 2 o'clock yesterday morning and he was removed to the hospital here.

Young was struck by a car driven by Dr. W. E. Harper of Winchester when he got out of his own car in front of the Winchester school, where he was taking a post-graduate course this winter. It is reported that he was thrown about 20 feet, but was able to get up and did not appear to be seriously injured.

The boy was taken to the office of Dr. R. R. Jones in Winchester and given first aid treatment. He had several scratches and bruises. He was later taken to his home at Glasgow.

Dr. Harper and his wife were enroute to a country school which Mrs. Harper teaches. He stopped and rendered all possible assistance. The accident occurred a short time before classes began at the school. Young is said to have had his overcoat collar turned high and this may have obstructed his view of the Harper car as he got out of one driven by his father, who had taken him to Winchester.

The victim of the tragedy is survived by his father and one brother, Allen Young, who is a student at the Alsey high school. The family is well known in Scott county.

The remains were removed to the Danner Funeral Home in Winchester, and later will be taken to the residence. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Glasgow Baptist church.

An inquest was held by Coroner E. O. Samples at Our Saviour's hospital at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, at which time the jury found that Young came to his death from "cerebral hemorrhage, caused by being struck by a Plymouth automobile driven by Dr. W. E. Harper of Winchester. We exonerate Dr. Harper from all blame."

The jurors included: A. J. Jones, foreman; M. W. Spanghauer, William Quinlan, James Burkley, O. C. Crabtree and J. W. Eston.

DEADLINE ON CODE FOR HATCHERYMEN IS CLOSE AT HAND

Operators of the 800 hatcheries in Illinois must display their compliance certificates not later than the date of their first hatch or if they are already operating, not later than February 1 in order to comply with the code of fair competition for the hatchery industry, according to H. H. Alb, poultry extension specialist of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. He has been placed in charge of the educational work on the code in this state.

Members of the district coordinating committee who are cooperating in getting the code established in this territory are Frank Welch, chairman, Lincoln; Charles Brubeck, Beardstown; O. E. Dennis, Augusta; D. H. Hayes, Springfield; and H. Campbell, Petersburg.

In order to get their compliance certificates in time, hatcherymen should file application at once with the National Coordinating Committee, 215 Pershing Road, Kansas City, Mo. Alb advised.

"In his application the hatchery operator should list the total hatching capacity, including all incubator trays, nursery trays and separate hatcheries. He should include with his application his pro-rata share of the code expense in the amount of 15 cents for each 1,000 hens' hatching capacity. The minimum fee is $2, and all dealers must pay the minimum."

"Failure to pay the pro-rata share of the expense is a violation of the code."

The hatchery code has been a law following the last of a series of educational meetings on it held at Aurora, January 24. It affects all persons, corporations, partnerships, etc., that produce chicks for sale, do custom hatching for hire, or deal in or sell chicks. The only exemption is in the case of the farmer who hatches from eggs produced on his own farm in his own incubator and who does not sell more than 500 chicks annually.

"However, every individual doing custom hatching, regardless of the number of chicks hatched, comes under the code. Every individual hatching eggs other than those produced on his own farm and offering chicks for sale, regardless of the number of chicks produced, comes under the code."

The sparks from the conflagration were blown by the high wind on to the Reynolds residence causing much alarm for a time. The fire department was called and prevented the chimney from catching the blaze and about one third of the roofing was burned. The damage was estimated at about a hundred dollars.

The third call was to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beerman, northeast of Jerseyville, about seven thirty o'clock Monday morning. The house caught fire, presumably from the fire and although the blaze did not do much damage it was found necessary to break through the roof and ceilings in order to get to the fire which was smoldering in the joists and threatening the entire residence.

At six ten o'clock Monday morning the firemen received their second call to the home of Elmer Heath on East Carpenter street, where the roof was on fire. It is thought that sparks from the chimney had caused the blaze and about one third of the roofing was burned. The damage was estimated at about a hundred dollars.

A new and powerful "rub" that brings a head cold in ten seconds. Its secret lies in the "rub" which is a powerful gas, reaches the very lung tissue with the first breath. Yet it is so perfectly harmless you may use it on the baby!

This fine penetrant will often relieve a head cold within a few moments, a chest cold in one night. Or ease a sore throat like no spray or gargle ever tried. Fine Balm gives you an entirely new weapon for fighting colds. It is not a mere surface rub. It is not another ointment whose vapors merely rise to the head. This volatile rub reaches the air passages, penetrates to the spots where colds settle. So, give your children the advantage of this new and more effective protection.

AND IT COSTS ONLY 25¢

TO PARENTS:
Fine Balm is bringing amazing results for adults, with various types of colds. It is especially useful in treating children—whose little stomachs are easily upset by dosing with internal medicines.

Local druggists have now been supplied. Get the name right, and get the right preparation; ask for Dr. Caldwell's Pine Balm.

Hosiery Shades To Wear With Prints

That all the stunning new print dresses demand equally stunning hosiery shades goes without saying. Big, bold designs with dark backgrounds demand dark hosiery with a caste of the predominating color. For light, airy designs, lighter, more neutral hosiery should be worn.

Neumode's Popular Colors
Smokestone... undoubtedly the most serviceable, all around, winter color in either sheer or service hose for wear with black or neutral browns.

Pittsburgh Pirate President Says His Ball Club Should Win National League Pennant

By Marben Graham
Associated Press Staff Writer
Pittsburgh, Jan. 30.—(AP)—"I don't think I have ever been so optimistic about the future of my team as I am now," said J. H. S. D., president of the Pittsburgh Pirates, today. "I believe we will win the National League pennant this year."

"Last year I said we were entering the season with high hopes. We finished second like the year before," he said today.

"This year I'll say we are entering the season with higher hopes. Now just where should that land us?"

The "Admiral" is a son-in-law of the late Barney Dreyfuss, and assumed his rank two years after Dreyfuss' death. Only 40 years old, Dreyfuss was at least five years younger. Dreyfuss is a native of the Pennsylvania town of Erie.

Unlike other more recent club heads, Dreyfuss does not hesitate to discuss his policies, even to listening to the standard managers' and deep attention. He showed he reached his own decisions and sticks by them. He is a man of action, and his rank two years after Dreyfuss' death. Only 40 years old, Dreyfuss was at least five years younger. Dreyfuss is a native of the Pennsylvania town of Erie.

Dreyfuss said he sees the National League race as a six-team scramble—with the Pirates, Cubs, Giants, Cardinals, Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers doing most of the scrambling.

"The other two, Cincinnati and Philadelphia, are so changed I don't believe anyone can figure on them at this time," he said. "But both may be managed if they can combine the proper spirit."

"Wild Bill" Hallahan is "Key Man" in Cardinals Drive For 1934 Pennant

St. Louis, Jan. 30.—(AP)—"Wild Bill" Hallahan, the southpaw with the sweeping curves and terrific speed, is considered the "key" man in the St. Louis Cardinals' drive for the 1934 pennant.

In the words of Branch Rickey, general manager of the far-flung St. Louis baseball system, if "Bill" will readjust his mental perspective of pitching and pitch as he did when he was helping the Cardinals to pennants in 1930 and 1931, our pennant prospects will be bright indeed.

Last year Hallahan tried to out-smart the batters. His attempt to substitute cunning and brains for the product of his strong left arm failed. Rickey hopes for a return of his old style of throwing in 1934.

Rickey believes the surprising New York Giants will be dangerous. They "should be good for about two more years," he added, but explained that "after a year or two of success and the banking of a little stake, players become money-conscious, they compare their lot with that of others. Then, 'I'll say team morale suffers.'"

"But," Rickey hastened to continue, "I'll say that if the pitching measures up to batting and fielding strength, we'll give St. Louis another pennant in 1934."

"BADMAN" TAKEN TO COUNTY JAIL AT CROWN POINT

and complete story of everything that he has been up to since he got out of the penitentiary.

Estill, who went to Arizona along with other officials to return Dillinger to Indiana to stand trial for the killing of policeman Patrick O'Malley of East Chicago, Ind., during a $20,000 robbery several weeks ago, said the gangster lost all bravado and bluster shortly after the airplane took off.

Said Sheriff Holley:

"We are taking every precaution and have extra guards to prevent any attempt to deliver Dillinger from his cell, but we're not really afraid of his escape. After all, 'Fur' Sammons was supposed to have been tough, wasn't he?"

Mrs. Holley became sheriff several months ago after her husband was killed by a madman he was seeking to apprehend.

Later in his cell, where Dillinger was allowed to talk to reporters, he told them he had learned in St. Louis shortly before he went to prison, that John Hamilton, one of the escaped convict members of his gang, was dead. Hamilton has been sought for the slaying of a Chicago policeman.

Estill said that Dillinger told him he was shot four times, and he was given $5,000 to give to Hamilton's children. It was part of the money taken from me at Tucson."

Joking with his guards and apparently in good spirits after his long airplane trip, Dillinger answered some questions freely, but was evasive as to the time element.

"I left Chicago because it was getting too hot for me," he said. "I had to keep moving all the time on account of 'Wells Reynolds'—pointing to officer Reynolds—and old man Siegel. Capt. John Stege who headed the squads designated to hunt him down."

"I went to Florida. I must have traveled about 150,000 miles in all and used up six automobiles. I wanted to get a new car and went to St. Louis, where I got one at the Auto Show and learned about Hamilton."

Estill said that Dillinger talked freely with the press "there's no use denying anything now" concerning the bank robberies. Dillinger denied, however, the killing of the policeman at East Chicago.

"Dillinger is convinced that he's going to burn," Estill said, "and so he's talking. He admitted participation in bank robberies at Racine, Wis., St. Mary's, O., and Greencastle, Ind."

"He said it was 'his boys' that freed him from jail in Lima, O., where he was awaiting trial for the Ohio bank robbery job."

"When we asked him who it was that passed money in East Chicago taken from the Ohio robbery, he quickly said: 'Hell, I did that along with Harry Pierpont and our skirts.'"

"He did complain, however, that the newspapers hadn't given him a break. So if the newspapers want to now they can say that I learned Dillinger's word was pretty good. After he tussled and fought with Tucson officers who put him aboard the plane, I asked him if he wanted to be tough or behave like a gentleman. He said he'd behave. And he behaved like a gentleman the rest of the trip."

More than 100 officers were on hand to greet Dillinger at Chicago. Governor Paul McNutt of Indiana sent state police there to reinforce the metropolitan detail supervising Capt. John Stege.

Dillinger, dragged from the plane by officers who brought him from Arizona to take him to Indiana for trial for the death of a policeman in a robbery, apparently was bewildered at the mass display of authorities.

EXPLAIN CORN-HOG REDUCTION PLAN TO FARMERS OF COUNTY

The corn-hog plan educational campaign opened in this county Monday with meetings at Alexander and Mount Zion churches. The attendance at Mount Zion was 120 and at Alexander 54. Farmers are taking much interest in the plan, by which the government proposes to limit and control the production of corn and hogs throughout the country.

Meetings were held Tuesday afternoon at the community high school in Franklin and at the Methodist church in Lynnville. I. E. Parett conducted the meeting at Franklin, which was in charge of Don Ramsdall. At Lynnville H. P. Joy presided, and E. H. Potter presided. Last night H. P. Joy conducted a meeting at the town hall in Meredosia, over which Emil Roegge will preside.

J. H. S. RESERVES WIN TWO GAMES FROM WHITE HALL

Soph-Fresh Quintet Spurts Through Last Half to Pile Up 26-14 Win. Reserves Win Hard Fought Opener 19-14.

Jacksonville high school's two reserve basketball teams, coached by John Deem, rung up a double digit victory last night on the David Prince court over reserve teams from White Hall high, before a large crowd. The soph-fresh team spurted through the last half to defeat White Hall's snappy little second team 26-14 and the reserve team from both schools battled it out in a hard fought curtain raiser, J. H. S. winning 19-14.

In the main game, both teams used a fast breaking attack, resulting in a lot of hurried passing and hurried defensive work. Both teams showed themselves weak in offense, but the Crimsons (featuring) failed to connect a single time while the White Hall lads registered only two free tosses, out of a number of chances.

The Crimsons reserves took the lead at the start, but had to wait until the second half before they got far enough in front to feel secure. Then Hamm, Lukeman and Ferguson began connecting with the wicket to more than double the count at one stage of the fray. Ferguson led the Crimsons scoring with 10 points, while Briscoe was high gunner for the visitors with five points. The box scores:

Dividend Checks To Be Sent Here From Washington

Some time ago when an announcement was made that a ten percent dividend was to be paid by The Avers National Bank it was thought by the Receiver that the dividend checks would be ready for distribution to the depositors by the last week in January.

The dividend checks of National Banks are prepared by the Receiver and forwarded to the Comptroller's office in Washington for signature, and are then returned to the Receiver for distribution.

The checks for the depositors of The Avers National Bank have been in Washington for four weeks and should be returned at this time ready for distribution. As soon as these checks are received, notice will be given through the local papers so that those interested may call for their checks, as no checks will be mailed to anyone in Jacksonville or nearby territory.

The delay in receiving these checks from the Comptroller's office is due to the unusual pressure of work that has burdened the Washington office since the moratorium of last March, Nelson H. Greene, the Receiver said Tuesday.

DR. MCLELLAND IN TAYLORVILLE TALK

Dr. C. P. McClelland, president of MacMurray college made the address of the evening at a meeting of the service and civics clubs under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, on Monday night at Taylorville.

President McClelland spoke upon the subject, "The Great Russian Experiment," before a large and enthusiastic audience.

Upon his return from Taylorville President McClelland remarked upon the impression which he received of the citizens were united in a common purpose to make Taylorville prosperous—a spirit which should be carried into all communities. During the evening the mayor read a plan of community activities for the coming twelve months.

The toastmaster was Colonel Seaman and under his guidance, the meeting with informal remarks from many present was one of unusual interest.

Three Games Slated For D.P. Gymnasium; Tigers to Keep Cox Out of Feature Battle

First game—6:30 p. m. DeSilva's freshmen vs. I. S. D. 16's.
Second game—7:30 p. m. Deem's Soph-Fresh team vs. I. S. D. Reserves.
Third game—8:30 p. m. Varsity—J. H. S. I. S. D.
Place—David Prince gym.

The intra-city feud between Jacksonville high and Illinois School for the Deaf will flare up again tonight in three basketball games to be played on the David Prince gymnasium, the first at 6:30, the second at 7:30 and the feature game between the varsity teams of the two schools at 8:30 o'clock.

Harley Cox, Illinois School for the Deaf ending as the state champion of the game tonight, Coach S. Robey Burns said last night. Cox did not dress for practice yesterday, and was wearing a large bandage over one corner of his lip. The Tiger star has a bad fever blister covering a corner of his mouth.

Coach Burns got busy immediately yesterday revamping his line-up for the Crimsons game, and said last night he probably would use Gordon and Conoposis at forwards, Thurman at center, Beard and Garland at guards. Garland will serve as captain of the team.

The Crimsons line-up will remain the same as it was last week when the team won third place in the Ashland Invitational tournament. Davis and Ketter will be the starting forwards, with Wicks at center, and Lane and Mann guards. Coach Frank Walker will have an ample supply of replacements available on the side lines.

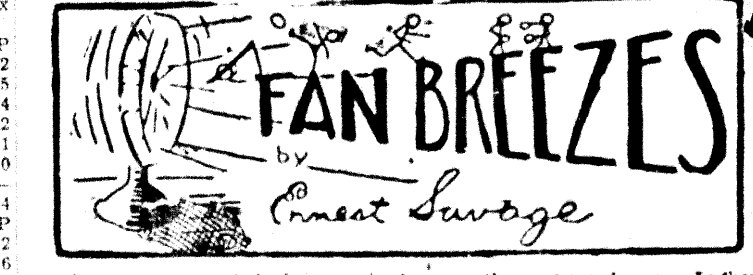

Eldon DeSilva, former J. H. S. guard has taken over a number of freshmen and is giving them the benefits of his years of basketball playing. He will match his team against the Tiger 16's, the team which recently lost a close decision to the Springfield Pups. In the opening game, Coach John Deem will put his regular freshman-sophomore team against the Tiger reserves in the second game on the program.

A lot of excitement is being evidenced by the coaches of the state over the contest, which will be the annual tournament this year at MacMurray College.

The coaches were successful in putting across their program of having 16 teams in the final, the same number that plays in the Indiana tournament, but this seems to have been a hitch in the arrangement for some reason, as yet undetermined.

The plan proposed by the I. H. S. A. is to use two gymnasiums for the championship round of the tournament. We haven't heard whether this step is being taken to speed up play, make it possible to hold most of the sessions at night, or just what the cause for the suggestion is. Need Wright, I. H. S. A. representative, said that it is going to bring a lot of squawks because these coaches and even the teams playing, want to see other teams in action.

Not only do they want to see other teams play, but they fear that there will be a mix-up in the gymnasiums. Spectators probably will be more or less mixed up too.

MACMURRAY COLLEGE NIGHT WEDNESDAY AT GRACE CHURCH

The church night on Wednesday night at Grace church will be designated as MacMurray College night. In the supper which will be served at 6:20 there will be an address by President C. P. McClelland on the Commission of Christian Education. At the close of this address the entertainment will be furnished by students of MacMurray College. The following will be the program: Group of songs by Louise Bredehoft, "Morning" by Speaks, "Come to the Fair" by Matheson.

Group of songs by Jane Ellen Rogers. In the Bloomington, Tuesday, attending a meeting of the World Service Council of the Illinois Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church.

GIVE NOTICES OF APPEAL IN COURT

Notices of appeal to the Appellate court, third district, were given in two cases in circuit court yesterday, with Judge Walter W. Wright presiding. The notices followed the overruling of motions for new trials.

In the case of Samuel Omeas against Oliver W. Rimbey, in which the plaintiff sought damages as the result of an altercation which took place several months ago in Omeas' place of business here, the motion of the plaintiff to set aside the verdict and for new trial was overruled. The verdict was in favor of the defendant and the court decreed that the plaintiff take nothing and pay the costs and to which the plaintiff excepted and gave notice of appeal.

The second notice of appeal was given by the defendant in the case of Ernest Roy Nimes against the City of Jacksonville. In this suit a jury recently awarded damages to the plaintiff who claimed the city was responsible for an overflow of water upon his property, which caused damage.

It was ordered by the court that the motion for a new trial be overruled upon the plaintiff remitting excess over $500. The defendant excepted and gave notice of appeal. The court then affirmed the verdict and the court decreed that the plaintiff take nothing and pay the costs and to which the plaintiff excepted and gave notice of appeal to the Appellate court.

LITERARY SOCIETY OF WASHINGTON IS 60 YEARS OLD

In January, 1934, "The Washington D. C. Literary Society" celebrated its sixtieth anniversary. But the occasion, like the regular meetings of such organizations, had no publicity. The only direct interest of Jacksonville in the society is the fact that a former townsman, William Mather Lewis, is one of its members. Mr. Lewis came to Illinois College in 1900 as a teacher of oratory. In 1901 he became the principal of Whipple Academy, but continued to teach English and oratory. He left Jacksonville in 1903.

To residents of Jacksonville a Literary Society sixty years old is young compared with the "Club" and the "Literary Union," both of which are approaching the three-quarter century mark.

The Washington Society has a great advantage in location, however, and its membership contains many celebrated names. At least three presidents—Rutherford B. Hayes, James A. Garfield and Theodore Roosevelt, have been members.

Members of the society have another marked distinction. Their membership is composed of men and women but never of both. The Washington Society was founded by women and the men were invited to membership. It is said to have been inspired by the salon of New York provided over by Alice and Phoebe Cary.
